

Help Us Understand Life After Leukemia for Children with Down Syndrome

We invite you to join a research project focused on understanding life after treatment. This is one of the first studies where children and parents / caregivers can share their stories of survivorship, what daily life looks like, what supports have helped, and what strengths your family has discovered along the way.

Who: We are looking for families who meet the following criteria:

- Child is co-diagnosed with Down syndrome and leukemia before the age of 14.
- At least 6 months have passed since your child's last cancer treatment.

What will participation include:

- Talking to us about your experiences
- Questionnaires
- Observing you and your child together (in person or virtually)
- Payment up to $275 for participation

To sign up or to learn more information about this University of Wisconsin-Madison research study, please contact us:

ausderaulab@education.wisc.edu

608-262-0653

WAISMAN
CENTER